

Navigating the New FASB Codification: Research Real-Life Accounting Issues

Now you can not only get up-to-speed on the new FASB Online Accounting Codification, but also use the Codification to research and get answers to some of the top accounting issues fielded by the AICPA's Technical Hotline! The Codification – a major restructuring of existing accounting and reporting standards – became authoritative in July 2009. It is essential that professionals, both in industry and public practice, become familiar with using it.
