Many errors found in current XBRL filings result from misunderstanding the SEC tagging rules or how to use the U.S. GAAP Taxonomy. Whether you outsource the tagging and preparation of your financial statements or do it yourself, your company is responsible for the quality of your reporting.

The XBRL U.S. GAAP Certificate Program will help your accountants and auditors:

- Understand XBRL and the U.S. GAAP Taxonomy.
- Review and validate XBRL documents.
- Create the extension taxonomy and build the instance document.
- Transition to a new release of the taxonomy
- Use the SEC EDGAR Filer Manual
- Manage statements: cash flow, income, shareholders, equity, comprehensive income and balance sheet.

This curriculum is open to CPAs and non-CPAs. CPAs will earn up to 35 CPE credit hours.

Participants have two years to complete the curriculum after registering. There is no end-of-curriculum exam to earn the certificate.

The XBRL U.S. GAAP Certificate Program is not a professional credential or license. There is no ongoing education requirement after completion.

Ensure your staff have the XBRL proficiency to quickly and efficiently create or review high-quality XBRL financial statements.
